What the Jews of the Iberian Peninsula Teach Us About Political Power & Minority Status

Submitted by Casey Colvin on February 13, 2018 - 2:14pm

SPS PhD Student Vivian Mills, as part of her appointment as the Richard M. Willner Memorial Scholar and a 2017-2018 Graduate Fellow at the Stroum Center for Jewish Studies at University of Washington, has published a post to that organization's blog about Sephardic Jews on the Iberian peninsula, circa 400 CE to 1492 CE. Read the post now on the Center for Jewish Studies website.

People Involved: Vivian Mills

News Category: Student Success

Source URL: https://spanport.washington.edu/news/2018/02/13/what-jews-iberian-peninsula-teach-us-about-political-power-minority-status