

UNIVERSITY of WASHINGTON

Sephardic Culture before 1492

This course explores Sephardic art, music, food, film, literature, citizenship and nationhood, identity, and the origins of ladino, among other topics. It will also provide a chronological overview of the Sephardim in Spain and the diaspora in relation to Latin America.

May be used as 400-level Spanish Major elective if no previous course was taken in English for major. Some work required in Spanish for SPAN credit. JSIS majors should register for JSIS C 460.

Course taught in English.

SPAN 460 / JSIS C 460

Winter 2017

T, Th 9:30—11:20

Credits: 5

Professor:

Ana Gómez-Bravo

agbravo@uw.edu

spanport.washington.edu

SPANISH & PORTUGUESE STUDIES
UNIVERSITY of WASHINGTON